

Nominees for PRESIDENT ELECT:

Susie Harting: Osteen, FL, Diocese of Orlando, Province of Miami

--As the NCCW Secretary and the immediate past Coordinator of the Leadership Training and Development Team (LTD), I have encountered invaluable challenges and acquired extensive knowledge. The interaction with members from across the nation and engagement at all levels of NCCW has underscored the significance of possessing a vision and education in NCCW's mission and spirituality. "You—The Most Significant Other" will be my goal in pursuing the position of President-Elect, building on empowering members' uniqueness. Looking at the runway ahead of NCCW, let us increase the intensity of the NCCW mission, particularly dedication, service, and integrity, and make a clear commitment to making a difference with our commissions.

Mary Rowley: Halfway, MO, Diocese of Springfield-Cape Girardeau, Province of St. Louis

-- My name is Mary Rowley. The ministry of the Council of Catholic Women was started by our United States Council of Catholic Bishops in 1920. Our council membership are the hands, feet, and body of our Lord, Jesus Christ and are here to do the work He asks us to do. I have been a member of CCW for nearly 30 years and have seen all the good that we can do and will continue to do. Our gifts that God has given us help us support this organization. Please vote for Mary Rowley, President-elect 2025!

Jane Schiszik: Medford, WI, Diocese of Superior, Province of Milwaukee

--I have gained valuable experience and knowledge during my 40-year involvement with the Council. I have served on all rings of Council, understand the dynamics of NCCW and continue to be inspired by an organization of faith filled catholic women. NCCW has enriched my life spiritually, enables me to live my faith, serve my God, serve others, and encounter Jesus every day. If elected, my focus will be directed on promoting the Mission of NCCW, communicating the value of belonging as a member, building membership, strengthening its 104-year history, and making it a stronger and attractive organization for all catholic women.
